COURSE: GOING PAPERLESS: WHY & HOW

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Any personnel interested in modernizing operations that follow today's standards for digitally-enabled productivity

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

Does your department still print and file reports, case files, and forms? Do you still have a fax machine? Do you have to walk or drive records to the court? Do you sign documents with a pen?

These legacy approaches to managing records, and the prevalence of manual, paper-driven business process are indications of a real need for digital transformation... modernizing how you create, share, store, and access information, and how you provide service to both employees and external stakeholders.

Specific Learning Objectives:

- Procedures for implementing digital transformation
- Managing information and business processes electronically
- Managing public records requests electronically
- Sharing records with the Court and D.A. electronically
- Learn the laws that allow for completely digital records and signatures
- Inventorying and digitizing information touchpoints
- Developing defensible digital records procedures and policy

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Property/evidence personnel
- Police Supervisors, Managers, Commanders

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

In this class you will learn about effective management of property and evidence operations, items, and systems. To help ensure compliance, and lower risk and liability, law enforcement agencies must recognize the high-liability nature of this function, and the importance of having consistent personnel, oversight, and program policy.

You will learn about best practices for inventories, auditing, and guidelines for destroying property and evidence, and the requirement for this unit, and your records unit, to closely collaborate and reconcile records and property on an ongoing basis.

This is a training that anyone who works in or oversees property/evidence, and/or records operations, should attend.

Topics include:

- Audits and inventories
- Chain of custody
- Use of technology
- Reconciling case dispositions with property/evidence operations
- Maintaining proper records
- Disposing of evidence
- Policy

COURSE: CRIMINAL LAW VS. NIBRS ACCURATE CODING OF OFFENSE REPORTS (STATE-SPECIFIC)

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Records personnel, crime analysts who do NIBRS reporting, anyone who approves, reviews, or codes reports, crime analysts who use NIBRS stats for data-driven analysis, and law enforcement and support personnel who do NIBRS reporting

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

The difference between criminal law definitions and NIBRS offense definitions requires understanding the importance of reconciling state statutes/codes and NIBRS offenses to ensure accurate classification of crimes. Assuming your RMS automatically assigns the correct code for every offense will lead to inaccurate crime data. Learn how state criminal laws are counted for NIBRS purposes and how they should be coded. This training includes practical scenarios commonly found in offense reports.

The training is state-specific and will cover your individual state's laws.

Topics include:

- Statutory definitions of common NIBRS-reportable crimes
- Reconciling state law with NIBRS offenses
- NIBRS coding

COURSE: HATE CRIMES: REPORTING NIBRS BIAS-BASED OFFENSES

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Personnel who investigate and report hate crimes

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

With more high-profile hate crimes grabbing the national spotlight, such crimes remain underreported and undercounted. Hate crimes tend to have a "severe and profound impact" on affected communities. Reporting issues and discrepancies rest on the shoulders of law enforcement agencies, which share local data with the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting program. This four-hour class provides guidance in the recognition, proper documentation, and reporting of bias-based offenses to NIBRS.

Topics include:

- Current events affecting hate crimes incidents
- Differentiation between criminal intent and motivation
- Recognition of indicators related to hate crimes
- Understanding probable cause of motivation in a hate crime
- NIBRS rules for documentation of bias-based events

OVERVIEW

Do you hear back from your local court or D.A. when a case has met disposition? How do we handle arrests made by other agencies on our cases? How do we handle multiple offense and multiple suspect cases? Can you clear a case by arrest when a warrant is obtained? When can a case be exceptionally cleared or unfounded?

We see many departments keeping closed cases forever, over- and under-reporting crime data, and misreporting their clearance rates, all due to issues in the world of case management. If the proper status and disposition of cases is not maintained throughout the course of an investigation and all the way through the judicial process, agency stats and retention of records will never be accurate or in compliance.

Learn what case management really is, how it affects your NIBRS data, records retention periods, and how to keep case status and dispositions correct throughout the course of an investigation and prosecution.

Topics include:

- The difference between status and disposition and when should they be changed
- How and when supplements should be submitted
- Clearing cases vs. offenses
- The importance of court dispositions and case status

COURSE: REVIEWING & APPROVING REPORTS: WHO SHOULD DO IT & HOW

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Police supervisors and Records personnel

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

To this day, many police agencies take the wrong approach to ensuring police reports are accurate, error-free, and well-written. Misconceptions regarding the role records personnel and police supervisors play in the report review process are prevalent. Errors get overlooked, fingers are pointed, and officers feel frustrated.

Learn how to bring clarity, consistency, and buy-in to the importance of rejecting and correcting errors through a two-tiered review process that ensures transparency, prevents risk in court testimony, and resolves the challenge of getting everyone on the same page. Learn how to review reports, correct errors, and document changes to reports.

Training Goals:

- Helping agencies understand the correct approach to quality control of police reports;
- Clarifying how reports should be reviewed, rejected, corrected, and by who;
- Clarifying what types of mistakes should be rejected, and who should correct them;
- Developing agency policy and procedure for quality control.

Specific Learning Objectives:

- Understanding what constitutes a mistake, and whether it can be corrected by records personnel, a supervisor, or only by the officer;
- How to systematically review a report, identify errors, and develop consistent and transparent correction procedures;
- How to track errors and build accountability for quality reporting with officers, supervisors, and records personnel.

COURSE: LEOKA & CARGO THEFT – SPECIALIZED NIBRS

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Police personnel who investigate and report data relating to law enforcement officers killed and assaulted and cargo theft cases.

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

Preventing assaults and fatalities of our nation's law enforcement is the most critical use of NIBRS data. The mission of the Law Enforcement Officers Killed and Assaulted (LEOKA) program is to provide meaningful information used by law enforcement trainers to keep officers safer on our nation's streets. This part of the seminar is focused on the proper reporting requirements in NIBRS as it relates to the LEOKA program.

With cargo theft on the rise each year, proper reporting is critical. This training is intended to assist law enforcement agencies in reporting incidents of cargo theft to the NIBRS program. It addresses the types of offenses that constitute a Cargo Theft incident, how to identify cargo theft, and guidelines for reporting cargo theft.

Topics include:

- How to identify LEOKA incidents reportable to NIBRS
- Understanding who is included as a victim in the program
- How to properly apply the appropriate offense types and associated data elements
- Identification of the types of offenses that constitute a cargo theft
- NIBRS guidelines for the proper reporting of cargo theft.

COURSE: BUILDING A RECORDS TRAINING PROGRAM

2-DAY ONSITE TRAINING EVENT

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Anyone responsible for training new records employees.

DAY 1

In this session, we'll explore the importance of effective training programs in law enforcement records management and how they contribute to fostering a positive organizational culture. Throughout the day, attendees will gain insights into the role of a records trainer and the impact they have on the success of trainees, as well as learn strategies for creating highly engaged learners through clear communication and transparent expectations. Additionally, we'll delve into the nuances of adult learning in policing, including understanding generational differences and adapting training methods accordingly.

DAY 2

On the second day, we'll focus on the implementation of effective training programs. Attendees will gain valuable insights into the structure of records training programs and the development of training materials, including the creation of training competencies, rating criteria and scoring. We'll explore best practices for documentation and the utilization of record-keeping systems to track trainee progress effectively. Additionally, participants will learn how to write Daily Observation Reports (DORs) and Weekly Observation Reports (WORs) and incorporate digital tools into their training resources.
