WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Any personnel interested in modernizing operations that follow today's standards for digitally-enabled productivity

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

Does your department still print and file reports, case files, and forms? Do you still have a fax machine? Do you have to walk or drive records to the court? Do you sign documents with a pen?

These legacy approaches to managing records, and the prevalence of manual, paper-driven business process are indications of a real need for digital transformation... modernizing how you create, share, store, and access information, and how you provide service to both employees and external stakeholders.

Specific Learning Objectives:

- Procedures for implementing digital transformation
- Managing information and business processes electronically
- Managing public records requests electronically
- Sharing records with the Court and D.A. electronically
- Learn the laws that allow for completely digital records and signatures
- Inventorying and digitizing information touchpoints
- Developing defensible digital records procedures and policy

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Personnel who work in or oversee records operations.

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerrecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

Information management is a function in law enforcement with increasing levels of risk and liability. Lawsuits stemming from mismanagement of records and data are on the rise and usually result from a lack of quality control and planning, backlogs of pending requests for records, insufficient policy and training, and faulty crime data. Learn the inherent risks and liability that exist in Records and how to eliminate it. Attendees will participate in strategic risk analysis and prevention, and learn how to implement the approaches needed to protect the agency. You'll receive various resources/tools for agency- and self-assessment risk analysis, measuring key performance indicators and keeping track of productivity.

Topics include:

- Common reasons for lawsuits
- Quality control in records, the right way
- Correcting mistakes in reports. Records or the officer?
- Organizational structure in Records vs. all hands on deck
- Eliminate backlogs in Records
- Utilizing data and updated business processes

OVERVIEW

In this 2.5-hour course, learn what the law says about sealing and expunging records, as well as best practice for processing seal and expunge court orders. As each agency has different systems and policy, this course does not include step-by-step guidance for sealing or expunging records, but rather what the law says about eligibility and agency requirements. This course is state-specific.

Topics include:

- Overview of state law
- Understanding the difference between a sealed and expunged record
- Who has access to these records
- Eligibility and agency requirements

OVERVIEW

Learn what the law requires regarding maintenance, retention and disposition of public records held as evidence. How long should digital evidence be kept? What about other records associated with the case? When a court disposition has been received authorizing the disposition of evidence, is it okay to destroy it? Are there additional retention requirements? This course helps resolve the confusion around records vs. evidence concerns.

Topics include:

- When does evidence become a public record?
- Is there a difference between the two?
- When the court authorizes evidence to be disposed, is it okay to destroy it?
- Are there additional retention requirements beyond the closure of a case?
- What about evidence that has met the statute of limitation?

OVERVIEW

We find that many records management professionals have never been formally trained in the difference between a robbery and a burglary, a theft and a robbery, an assault and a battery, a forgery and an uttering and...many others. Yet, they are expected to review and approve reports!

This highly educational program will provide the legal training your Records personnel need to correctly decipher the events described in your agency's police reports. In order to reconcile what a police officer writes in a narrative with the classification of the report and how it should be counted for NIBRS purposes, understanding criminal statutes is imperative.

Gain the confidence you need to correctly understand police reports and take your expertise to the next level upon completing this criminal law course.

The training is state-specific and will cover your individual state's laws.

Topics include:

- Statutory definitions of crimes
- Reconciling state law with NIBRS offenses
- The "elements" of a crime

OVERVIEW

A one day course covering the application of Florida Chapter 119 to law enforcement records.

This seminar focuses on public records held specifically by law enforcement agencies and understanding what should or should not be released to the public according to Florida law and corresponding legal opinions.

Topics include:

- Overview of Florida's Sunshine Law (Chapter 119)
- Exempt vs Confidential records
- Understanding and identifying criminal investigative and intelligence information
- Handling victim and witness information
- Redacting law enforcement reports
- Releasing law enforcement training and personnel file information

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Executives needing a practical understanding of NIBRS.

Upon registering, you'll receive a link to join the webinar with instructions. Check your junk mail folder in case you don't see it. Register at policerecordsmanagement.com

OVERVIEW

Reading a NIBRS report is one thing; articulating the numbers to those who ask about them is something entirely different. We teach you what you need to know to understand, explain, review, and report your crime statistics correctly. Learn the common mistakes in crime reporting that lead to questioned crime stats. Ensure your agency stays out of the headlines and free of questionable crime reporting.

Topics include:

- Is your agency recording and reporting crime correctly?
- Dealing with the media.
- The difference between NIBRS definitions and state statute.
- Are your officers reporting multiple offense cases correctly?
- Validating and presenting NIBRS stats.
- How are crimes counted?
- How are cases cleared?
- Arrests vs. clearances.
- When can you really exceptionally clear a case?
- Learn the most common causes of erroneous stats.

OVERVIEW

Do you hear back from your local court or D.A. when a case has met disposition? How do we handle arrests made by other agencies on our cases? How do we handle multiple offense and multiple suspect cases? Can you clear a case by arrest when a warrant is obtained? When can a case be exceptionally cleared or unfounded?

We see many departments keeping closed cases forever, over- and under-reporting crime data, and misreporting their clearance rates, all due to issues in the world of case management. If the proper status and disposition of cases is not maintained throughout the course of an investigation and all the way through the judicial process, agency stats and retention of records will never be accurate or in compliance.

Learn what case management really is, how it affects your NIBRS data, records retention periods, and how to keep case status and dispositions correct throughout the course of an investigation and prosecution.

Topics include:

- The difference between status and disposition and when should they be changed
- How and when supplements should be submitted
- Clearing cases vs. offenses
- The importance of court dispositions and case status

OVERVIEW

Every report must contain the information needed to correctly document a crime, aid detectives in follow-up investigations, ensure conviction, and lessen the burden placed on reviewing supervisors and records personnel.

Training Goals:

- Production of top quality reports to aid investigators and ensure conviction;
- Producing reports which are error-free, reducing the burden on supervisors and records personnel;
- Developing a mindset which understands the importance of report writing;
- Developing a culture which embraces accountability for the production of well-written reports.

Specific Learning Objectives:

- Understanding what information must be gathered to write an effective report;
- How to write a report with chronological sequencing, making it easy for the reader to understand;
- Understanding the elements of a crime and how to describe them;
- Understanding how to concisely describe probable cause;
- Understanding the need to use plain language with a first-person point of view;
- Avoiding police slang/terminology/jargon;
- Understanding active vs. passive voice writing.

OVERVIEW

To this day, many police agencies take the wrong approach to ensuring police reports are accurate, error-free, and well-written. Misconceptions regarding the role records personnel and police supervisors play in the report review process are prevalent. Errors get overlooked, fingers are pointed, and officers feel frustrated. Learn how to bring clarity, consistency, and buy-in to the importance of rejecting and correcting errors through a two-tiered review process that ensures transparency, prevents risk in court testimony, and resolves the challenge of getting everyone on the same page. Learn how to review reports, correct errors, and document changes to reports.

Training Goals:

- Helping agencies understand the correct approach to quality control of police reports;
- Clarifying how reports should be reviewed, rejected, corrected, and by who;
- Clarifying what types of mistakes should be rejected, and who should correct them;
- Developing agency policy and procedure for quality control.

Specific Learning Objectives:

- Understanding what constitutes a mistake, and whether it can be corrected by records personnel, a supervisor, or only by the officer;
- How to systematically review a report, identify errors, and develop consistent and transparent correction procedures;
- How to track errors and build accountability for quality reporting with officers, supervisors, and records personnel.
